

Bundled WERT Organizational License and BAA for Alliances

The Wraparound Evaluation and Research Team (WERT) works with states, public child-serving agencies, Wraparound provider organizations, and intermediaries to promote effective systems of care and high-quality, model-adherent Wraparound care coordination. Among these partners are several large-scale Wraparound initiatives with specialized agreements, including, but not limited to:

- The California Department of Social Services (CA DSS) supports Wraparound providers and counties that have opted-in to the California Wraparound Evaluation and CQI pilot project;
- The Innovations Institute at the University of Connecticut to support states that receive training and technical assistance from the National Wraparound Implementation Center (NWIC);
- University of Illinois System Offices Office of Medicaid Innovation to support Wraparound providers in the state of Illinois;
- Case Western University and the OhioRISE program to support Wraparound providers in the state of Ohio.

Through these “Alliances” WERT provides a suite of tools to support Wraparound sites, research the efficacy of the Wraparound process, and increase the well-being of children and their families.
