training and evaluation, focusing on the evaluation, certification, or recertification of trainers in the LEARN methodology.

- Option 5: LEARN for Crisis Planning - In this 1-hour training, participants will learn the five elements of crisis planning: infrastructure, prevention, intervention, re-entry, and postvention. They will learn how to develop their own crisis-planning protocols and procedures. This training is highly customized to the needs of the Licensee.

- Option 6: Self-paced LEARN for Organizations: Participants will learn Forefront's LEARN model through a one-hour, self-guided training. They will also get access to the LEARN Self-paced Online Presentation, which includes the self-guided presentation and videos providing an overview of LEARN. Organizations can host this e-learning file on their learning management systems.

How can you get started?

Proceed by clicking Order Now that leads to the license. Once you do, fill in the necessary details and complete the process by accepting the click-through agreement.

Please be aware that we only accept agreements completed in this manner; PDFs or other forms of agreement submissions will not be considered valid.

What happens next?

After you submit your license request, it will go through an internal review by a member of the Forefront team. If you haven't already discussed your project with them, they will contact you. Next, Forefront and CoMotion will conduct a final review, and your license will be executed. Forefront will then contact you once your payment is received.

Please note that all parties must review their projects with the Forefront team prior to a license being approved.
